

Unlocking Young Minds: EWIS Partners with "Nena Mihira" for Educational Empowerment

In the fast-paced digital age, education is not just about acquiring knowledge; it's about fostering a mindset of continuous learning, critical thinking, and adaptability. Recognizing the pivotal role of education in shaping the future, EWIS has embarked on a remarkable journey to empower the young minds of Sri Lanka through its collaboration with the island-wide "Nena Mihira" Educational Rupavahini program.

Redefining Education Beyond Exams

Traditionally, education has often been associated with the pursuit of exam success. While academic achievements are undeniably important, they only scratch the surface of what a holistic education can offer. EWIS's commitment to education goes beyond the confines of textbooks and exams. Through its partnership with the "Nena Mihira" program, EWIS aims to inspire and guide young learners, particularly those preparing for the Grade five scholarship examination, to excel in education and beyond.

A Journey of Empowerment

The journey of empowerment begins with the upcoming Grade five scholarship examination. EWIS's role as the technology partner for the "Nena Mihira" program reflects its dedication to leveraging technology for educational enrichment. The program is set to kick off on August 13th, 2023, at the Kamburupitiya Upali Wijewardana Hall. With over a thousand children and their parents expected to actively participate, the event promises a day of interactive engagement and learning.

Guiding Beyond Exams

The essence of education lies not only in preparing for exams but also in nurturing life-long learning skills that extend beyond the classroom. EWIS, in partnership with the "Nena Mihira" program, seeks to ignite the spark of curiosity and creativity in young minds. While the primary focus is on optimizing performance in the scholarship examination, the program also emphasizes the importance of skills that are essential for future education and career prospects.

Inspiring Aesthetic Taste and Social Responsibility

Education transcends academics; it encompasses cultivating values, aesthetic taste, and social responsibility. The program includes a special focus on inspiring good aesthetic taste, fostering creativity, and promoting positive social networking habits among children. These qualities not only contribute to personal growth but also to the betterment of society.

In partnering with the "Nena Mihira" program, EWIS is extending its reach beyond technology and hardware. It is sowing the seeds of curiosity, empowerment, and holistic growth in the hearts and minds of young learners. As we embark on this transformative journey, we invite you to join hands with us in nurturing a generation that is ready to face the challenges and opportunities of the future. Together, we can truly unlock the potential of Sri Lanka's young minds.
